

JETSTREAM 1965

John Robert Ball

John
Putting aside all differing ideas on cars, I haven't anything to say. But keep on going strong in your head and maybe someday, I'll be able to make you a FORD convert, yet, or likewise, who knows.
Best of luck to you and don't ever lose your wit. Good luck in everything you do, except trying to have wrecks.

Your Friendly,
Ford Dealer,

1965 JET STREAM

VOLUME VIII

HAUSE R HIGH SCHOOL
HOPE, INDIANA

On five mornings a week, we stepped from our warm beds into a cold and demanding world---school.

Sleepy-eyed, we approached the front door by way of the new sidewalk.

THE SPIRIT OF '65

is a reflection of our lives at 543 Washington Street. 38 of us studied art for the first full year, and wrought the spirit of change. We listened to Mr. Rowe give the welcoming address in the spirit of tradition. We jumped and screamed and applauded our Jets in the spirit of enthusiasm. We had a sense of pride in our school and in ourselves. The spirit began on the first day, as the upperclassmen stopped to help lost freshmen and new students, and grew stronger through the months to follow. The excitement of sports sounded throughout the student body from the basketball game with Morgantown to the last game for the seniors in the Sectional. We were caught up in the whirlwind of term paper deadlines and Christmas festivities. The adventure of new horizons beckoned as we discovered chemistry equations and Caesar's Latin. The laughter, fun, tears, and surprises were all a part of the Spirit of '65 which engulfed us and carried us through a year of bewilderment, wonderment, and fulfillment.

The stairway was quickly crowded as we hurried to gather books and reach our classes.

Below, these students show the candid actions of an organization about to have its picture taken on activities day.

FRIENDSHIP EXPANDS OUR SPIRIT

This year the fourth period classes followed a weekly schedule that allowed teachers to dismiss their students early on certain days. But these senior girls always had a way of mysteriously popping up at the head of the line.

The fruit machine was a popular addition to our school this year. Those apples were always cold and juicy, as proven by the expressions of some hungry boys.

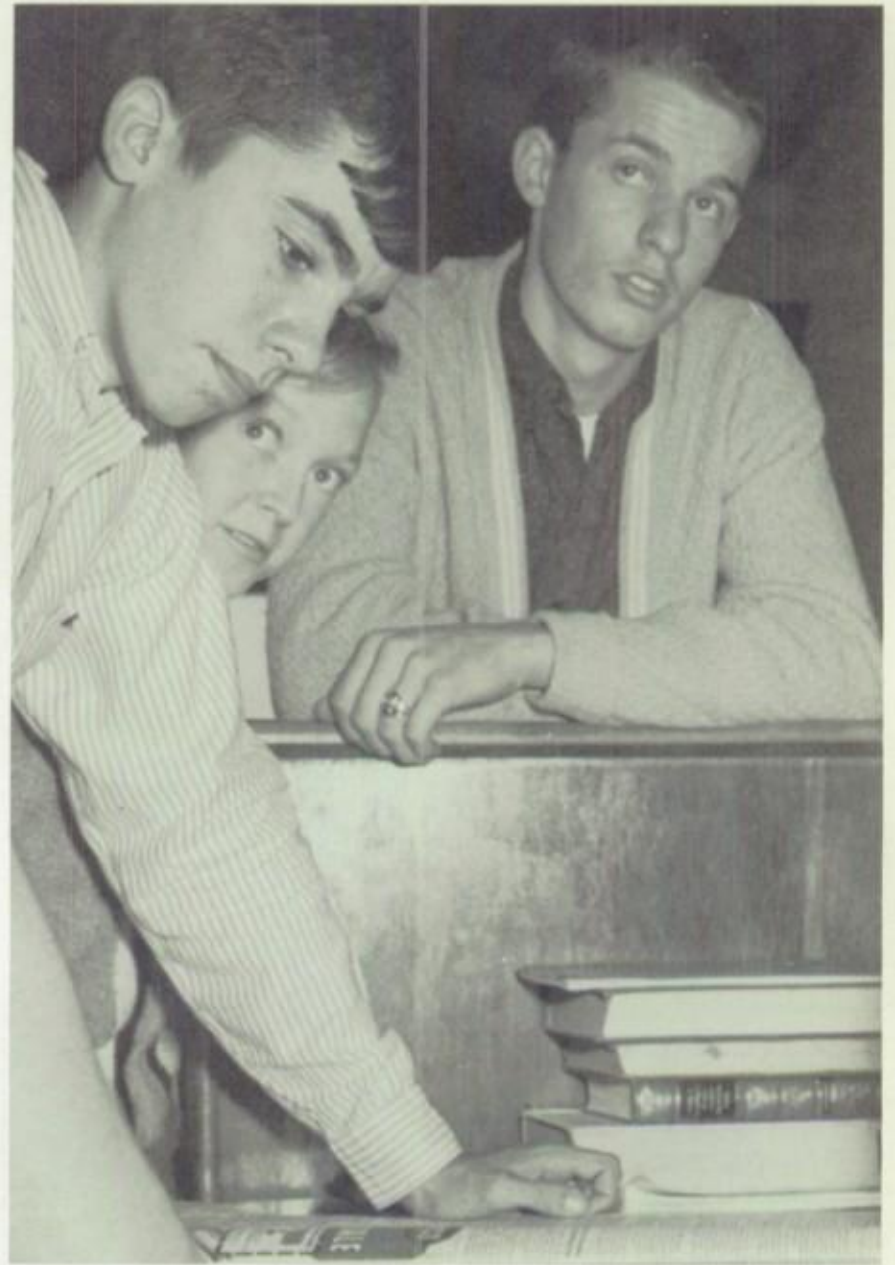

Study hall was a favorite meeting place for many couples and friends at noon hour. Frequently during hectic days it was the only opportunity for quiet talk.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you!" The fun of a joke, the joy of a secret, the sound of laughter in the halls--all helped in developing our Spirit.

Each day the reading table provided current newspapers which were usually opened to the comics or sports pages.

In a moment of hilarity, a junior editor displayed her high spirits after the annual staff finished the exhausting job of taking activity pictures.

Several seniors, involved in varied antics, seem to be having a good time at their Christmas party.

SENIORS CAPTURED BY CANDID SHOTS

By being crowned queen Donna received more than her title, as we see above.

While waiting for the coronation of Miss Basketball, Donna relaxes as she poses with Karen in front of the Christmas tree.

At the class party at Brown Co. Park, the unorganized activities were the most popular of the day.

Although fun, an all day excursion to Indianapolis can be tiring as shown by the various expressions.

Debbie looks as if she has found her new pacifier the perfect Christmas present, while Sara gives her a 'la-de-dah' look.

Surprises filled the year for us, but the best was that of hidden cameras.

Seniors find that building a pyramid is more fun than building their grades.

For some students, bookkeeping is a trying subject, but this year's seniors seem to breeze through it smoothly.

THE SPIRIT OF '65 COMES ALIVE

IN SPORTS

JETS PARTICIPATE IN MID - HOOSIER CONFERENCE

This year the varsity participates in a new conference. The name of it is the Mid-Hoosier Conference, consisting of six teams. The boys under the instruction of Coach Frank Melson practiced long and hard in preparation for their game only to lose several by two or three points.

John Trimnell goes up for two points as opponents look on helplessly.

Eddie Dailey takes a jump shot from the front.

Junior forward, John Trimnell goes under for two points.

John Trimnell jumps high in an attempt to get the ball.

Jets close in on opponent in an effort to regain possession of the ball. Shown are Hauser players: Eddie Dailey, John Trimnell, and David Herron.

RESERVES SET GOAL FOR VARSITY ACTION

David Phares, Hershel Barton, Bill Reed, Larry Turner, J. D. McQueen, Tom Marlin, Bruce Neal, John Beck, Butch Turner, John Johnson, Don Mankin, Ronnie Hatton, Rick Robinette, and Coach Robert Miller.

The reserve players play ball as hard as the varsity players in preparation for varsity action in the future.

The coach of the reserve players is Robert Miller. The team is made of nine sophomores and four juniors.

Don Mankin drives around his man for a layup.

David Phares goes up for a basket in Reserve action.

STUDENT MANAGER--Richard Ozelie, Marty Emmert, David Lortz, Steve Wetzel, Bob Alman, Terry Burlew, Micky Turner, Steve Tom Venable, Carlos Crawhorn, Dave Herron, Steve Rominger, Brad Hathway, and Coach Bob Miller.

The freshman team prepare for net action under the supervision of Coach Robert Miller. By learning the basic fundamentals of basketball, they hope to become future varsity prospects.

CHEERLEADERS--Cheri Alvis, Barbara Carmen, and Paulette Green.

The freshman cheerleaders help to arouse the spirit of the spectators at the basketball games.

Although the school's baseballers started off poorly against Triton and Southwestern, they began to pick up momentum against Waldron and Brown County. Burney, a team which beat Hauser in the first meeting, found Hauser to be an improved squad later on in the season and got beat by a close 3-2 score. Overall the team

THE SPIRIT OF '65 IS A SPARK

OF LEARNING

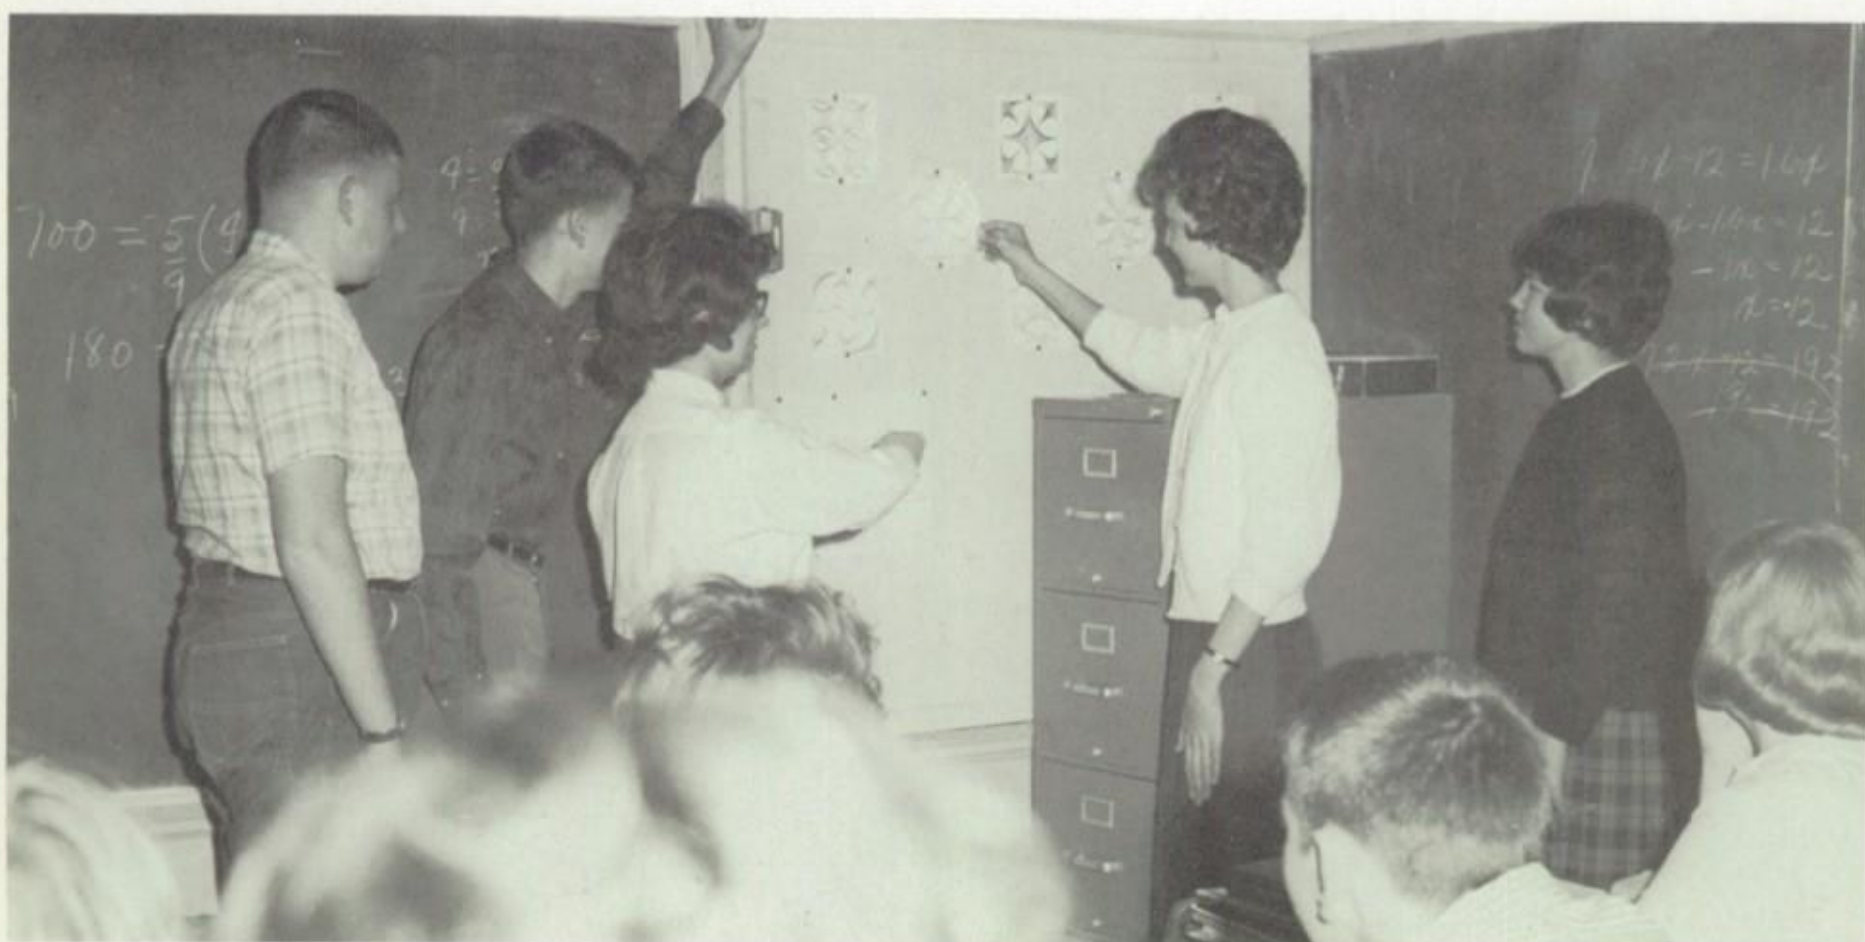

Above freshman algebra students take a test as Mrs. Utter looks on.

WE WORKED, CONCLUDED, AND PROVED

RIGHT: Algebra students listen and follow along as Mrs. Utter explains an advanced algebra problem in the book to the class.

First year algebra students learn the basic fundamentals of algebra. By learning how to solve algebraic equations and graphs, students equip themselves so that they can better understand work in advanced courses.

Geometry students solve problems by proving their answers with theorems and axioms and learn how to draw accurate constructions. By drawing geometrical figures they learn how to solve unknown angles or sides with what is given in the problem and with former proofs.

Advanced algebra students increase their knowledge of algebra by studying more complex problems. In this class students learn to solve equations with two and three unknowns and to work with graphs, tables, and formulas.

Senior math students work on Temac the first semester and work in the book the second semester. By using Temac they learn to discipline themselves in preparation for college by taking tests when they are ready. The second semester the class studies trigonometry and works daily assignments not so much in the manner of the assignments in Temac.

LANGUAGES BRIDGE THE WORLD

Students of the freshman English class are raising their hands ready to answer the questions asked by their teacher, Mr. Dominguez (standing at the far right). They learn in their first year of high school English basic steps that will help them in the future years of English at Hauser. The students learn the proper way to diagram sentences and sentence structure. Learning how to detect an adverb or a participle can be a puzzler to some students.

In the picture at the right, Betty Simmons is giving a speech for her speech class. This class gives you preparation for making speeches in public. It builds poise and helps you gain self-confidence add skill in oral expression. In speech class you learn to speak the English language properly. The students, when giving speeches, use visual aids in putting their ideas across to the other students listening.

The Latin class under the instruction of Mrs. Clouse learn the fundamentals of Latin. In the picture above, the first year Latin class is holding a Latin contest in which there are two teams. Mrs. Clouse is giving Latin Vocabulary to them, and in return they give the English meaning. The students learn the proper cases and tenses of words and sentence structure.

The students in the first year Spanish class are looking at a Spanish flag shown by two of their classmates. The class is taught by Mr. Dominguez. The first year is spent mainly on learning the language, meanings of phrases, speaking it properly, and accenting the words correctly.

Senior David Curry, with the aid of the big slide rule and teacher, Mr. Clayton, shows fellow senior physics students how to manipulate a slide rule. Fellow seniors

Gordon Thayer, Mike Beck, Steve Epperson, and Derryl Bates try to follow the instructions on their own slide rules.

SCIENCE BUILDS OUR WORLD

By using special charts, Carlos Crawhorn points out the parts of the amoeba to David Lortz and Terry Burlew. All are students in the Freshman Biology class.

Biology, the study of life, is a required subject of all Hauser Freshmen. Students study the classes of plants and animals and their characteristics. Further study is done by the use of charts, microscopes, and the dissecting of different animals and insects.

Students who do well in biology are encouraged to take additional courses in science. The science program at Hauser also offers chemistry and physics to juniors and seniors. Due to the limited lab facilities at Hauser, chemistry and physics consist mainly of learning the basic fundamentals and the theories of the atom, chemical reactions, and experiments.

Susan Shaffer, a junior chemistry student, is shown above trying to heat a piece of magnesium ribbon hot enough so that it will burn. When it burns, it will glow brightly and decompose into magnesium oxide and oxygen.

AWARENESS OF OUR HERITAGE IS STRESSED IN SOCIAL STUDIES

The World History class is studying hard as they work on an impromptu theme given by their teacher, Mr. McQueen. In this class they study the history of the world starting at the beginning of time to the present day. They give reports by groups. To put across their topics they put on skits and various other things.

Mr. Wickard, the senior social studies teacher, is asking the class questions about their lesson. The first semester they take civics, which is the study of modern government. The second semester they study psychology. Psychology is the study of people in relation with society.

With Miss Pender directing, the chorus showed their ability at the Christmas and Spring Concerts. They spent three days a week plus outside practices in preparation for these performances.

CHORUS AND ART DEVELOP SELF-EXPRESSION

Below the art students are working on their hand printed Christmas cards. These are sold at their annual Christmas print sale. The first semester is spent mainly on drawing and painting. The second semester is crafts and designing, which includes sculpting and weaving. In the spring they worked on a large mosaic for the new school. Mrs. Wilhoyte, shown standing in the picture below, is the instructor.

MARCHING JETS PUT HAUSER ON MUSIC MAP

ATTENTION! The Hauser Marching Jets get into position to march. The band practices for marching shows during the summer vacation to be presented at various parades and contests. Last summer the band competed at the Shelby County and Decatur County Fairs and at the Indiana State Fair. The band brought home its share of trophies and cash prizes, good rewards for lots of hard work.

The majorettes and pom pom girls perform with the band during the summer at parades and during the winter at basketball shows. Majorettes (standing) are: Jo Ann Lambert, Beth Glick, Teresa Herron, Kathy

'Band, forward march!' With that command, the Marching Jets embarked on a journey last summer which has carried them through three fairs to the tune of 'The New World Symphony'.

This winter they aroused excitement at home ballgames with their peppy and spirited tunes. December 21 marked a beautiful and rewarding evening for the bandmen who took part in the annual Christmas concert. On April 11, Indiana University was host for the State Music Contest for southern Indiana. After daily rehearsals and a lot of sacrificed hours, the band made its showing, and victoriously rode home atop the fire engines after receiving a first place rating.

Much practice is needed in preparing for a performance. Above the sax section is shown during one of the many after school practices before the Christmas concert.

In the above picture, Mary Alice Whittington, Donna Burton, JoAnn Harper, and Barbara Foist are shown typing from notes they have previously taken in shorthand. These girls have taken shorthand for two years. They spent a year learning vocabulary and to take dictation. Their second year is spent building speed and transcribing letters.

In the picture below; Peggy Turner, Pat Guthrie and Shirley Dailey are engrossed in a second year typing assignment. Second year typing is mainly spent working on problems and business forms from a workbook.

A business curriculum consisting of the following subjects is offered here at Hauser: General Business, Business Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, Typing I and II, and Shorthand I and II. A student, interested in a career in the business world, may take these subjects to prepare himself for the future. Students in some commerce classes are able to do work on actual business forms, such as the bookkeeping practice sets. The commerce courses are fully developed enough to allow a student to prepare himself well for any future in business he may desire.

FOR THE BUSINESS WORLD

PROSPECTIVE DRIVERS LEARN RULES OF THE ROAD

HOMEMAKERS BUILD FOR TOMORROW

Senior girls are granted the privilege of taking trips to housing developments and furniture shows. Here, they review some basic technique learned in earlier classes.

High school girls taking home economics are faced with many new experiences. Various cooking techniques, meal planning, first-aid, child care, and prevention of disease are many of the topics covered during the first three years. Seniors spend the year studying house plans, furniture, color schemes, and preparation for the care of their own home after marriage.

AGRICULTURE INSURES THE BREAD OF AMERICA

The Vocational Agriculture Department at Hauser High School is divided into five areas: 1. Adult Farmers evening classes, 2. Young Farmers evening classes, 3. Future Farmers of America, 4. Farm Mechanics, and 5. High School students day classes. The high school day class is the part of the high school instruction in Vocational Agriculture which includes the production cycles of farm crops and livestock with emphasis on production the first two years and more farm management in the junior and senior years. The student owns no textbook but has the opportunity to use the agricultural library for research. The home project is the center of the supervised farming program. Each student is expected to organize a program on a business-like basis.

Bey, Jim Bense, Jackie Cooper, and Dean Young.

PHYS. ED. DEVELOPS FITNESS FOR GIRLS AND BOYS

The sophomore girls' physical education class is shown taking a short break after going through a few exercises. The girls at Hauser are required to take phys. ed. for one year. The sophomore and the freshman girls meet on alternating days in the gym with Mrs. Wickens, the physical education teacher.

COORDINATION DEVELOPED THROUGH RECREATIONAL GAMES

Above, Mr. Miller's freshman boys' phys. ed. class is doing the "boxer shuffle". Besides doing these exercises, they play basketball, baseball, and tumble, plus various other recreational games. Both freshman and sophomore boys have physical education and health classes on alternating days.

THE SPIRIT OF '65 FOSTERS

RESPONSIBILITY THROUGH ACTIVITIES

Notice the enthused look on Dave's face as he allows the female staff members to 'escort' him down the stairs.

The 1964-65 school year has been a busy one for all of us, especially the members of the Jetstream Staff.

The first big project was the soliciting of ads which began on September 14. Then came the subscription campaign from October 26, through November 27.

This year the Jetstream Staff revised the Miss Basketball Queen Contest, and the excitement ran even higher. The home game with Clearspring, on December 18, was the setting where Donna Anderson, the Senior candidate was crowned our 1964-65 Basketball Queen. Donna earned this honor by turning in the most penny votes. Consequently, her class received the privilege of collecting the money from the Coronation Hop following the game.

INTERCEPTOR RELATES SCHOOL NEWS

mimeograph operator; Pat Guthrie, feature editor; David Curry, editor; Althea Drake, class news editor; and Linda Taylor, business manager and grade school news editor.

The Interceptor Staff, composed of seniors, worked approximately two weeks out of each month this past year in order to present the student body with the school paper.

While editing and publishing the paper, the staff members learned to cooperate with one another and meet the deadline each month.

With Mrs. Webster as adviser, they learned to gather news, type dummies, type stencils, and run the mimeograph machine. A paper ranging in length from eight to twelve pages was the end result of their combined efforts each month.

President, Steve Epperson; Vice-President, Gordon Thayer; Treasurer, Dave Curry; Sec.-Rep., Carolyn

Becker; Sponsor Mrs. Mabel Utter, and other members of the Honor Society pose for their group picture.

Honor Society, which is sponsored by Mrs. Utter, is designed for students who are able to maintain a B average through their high school years. Students become provisional members their sophomore year in the second semester. In their junior year, all high school teachers meet to vote on the provisional members, who are rated according to the qualifications of scholarship, leadership, service, and character.

A bright note in this organization is the sponsoring of the mixer each fall, where students have the opportunity to become better acquainted.

TOP STUDENTS GAIN TOP HONORS

Each high school class elects two pupils who will represent their fellow students in Student Council, which is sponsored by Mr. Rowe. The main purpose of this organization is to make decisions concerning any article presented which will benefit the school.

President, Carolyn Becker; Vice-President, Steve Epperson; Secretary-Treasurer, Ann Stafford; Representative, Mike Beck, and other members of the Student Council listen to Sponsor Mr. Rowe, as he leads the discussion of a problem.

LIBRARY CLUB MEMBERS SERVE US

The Library Club is in charge of the care of the library and checking the books out to students. The sponsor of the organization is Mrs. Clouse. They are in charge of the care and up-keep of the books.

JOURNALISTS ARE HONORED BY QUILL AND SCROLL

The Quill and Scroll is a journalistic organization. The requirements for membership are being in the upper third of your class and working on a form of school publication. This includes Interceptor, Jetstream, and reporting to local papers.

On March 12 the following students were initiated into Quill and Scroll: Sereta Miller, Linda Taylor, Judy Barker, Peggy Turner, Sara Diewert, Jim Bense, Gordon Thayer, Beth Glick, and Susan Shaffer.

FFA, FHA, AND FTA ENCOURAGE RESPONSIBILITY

The FHA is an organization of girls interested in bettering themselves for their futures as homemakers. At Christmas they made and distributed cheer baskets to needy families. The group is sponsored by Mrs. Shaw. Officers are: Carolyn Beeker, president; Debbie Hatton, secretary; JoAnn Harper, treasurer; Shirley Dailey, reporter; Carlotta Lawson, Parliamentarian; and Sharon Yarnell, historian.

The FTA is a new organization at Hauser for the students interested in teaching as a career. Mr. McQueen is the sponsor of the organization.

BOOSTER CLUB INSPIRES TEAM AND FANS

The Hauser Booster Club backs the Jets through the basketball season. Although this is the main object of the club, the members also sell bumper stickers and participate in skits during pep sessions. The officers for 1964-65 are as follows: President, Mary Cook and

Sam Deiwert; Vice-President, Barb Thayer and Jim Jessee; Secretary, Gayle Epperson and Andy Dunbar; Treasurer, Ruth Dailey and John Wilson; Representative, Kathy Lortz; Sgt. -at-Arms, Marvin Hedrick.

GAA PROMOTES BETTER SPORTSMANSHIP

The Girls' Athletic Association, sponsored by Mrs. Wickens, encourages physical fitness. During activity periods various sports are played and points are given to girls who participate. Pins are given to those girls who have accumulated enough points. Officers are: Donna Anderson, President; Joyce Webb, Vice-President; Shirley Dailey, Secretary; Mary Cook, Treasurer; Diana Hedrick, Reporter.

AUDIO-VISUAL BOYS ASSIST WITH LEARNING

With Mr. Clayton as sponsor, the audio-visual boys give their assistance to the classes by showing movies and slides with the movie, opaque and slide projectors. Pictured from left to right: Gary Christy, Lynn Finke, Darryl Bates, Gary Giles, Darrell Drake, Steve Epperson, Stan Bates, Larry Wright, and Mr. Clayton.

PATROL BOYS TEACH RULES OF SAFETY

The patrol boys are volunteers who give their time in seeing that grade school children leave school safely. They are stationed at different corners of the school ground and help the younger school children cross streets. They stay at their post and remain on duty in all kinds of weather. Pictured at right: John Reed and Danny Gommel. Not present are Ronnie Law and Glen Olmstead.

KING AND QUEEN OF 1965 PROM, "A ROMAN HOLIDAY"

KING, DAVID HERRON

QUEEN, SHIRLEY DAILEY

MOONLIGHT GARDENS LAUNCH THE EVENING

Many weeks of planning, anticipating, and worrying led to two days of frantic work for last year's juniors in order to prepare the 1964 prom. On the evening of May 9, the gym doors opened to a gay 'Moonlight Gardens.' The evening was enjoyed by everyone. The occasion was highlighted by the crowning of Patti Paetzel and Paul Rutan as the Queen and King of the 1964 prom.

The gaily dressed servers are pictured as follows; Bart Miller, Teresa Herron, John Wilson, Lynn Finke, Claudia Miller, Barbara Thayer, Mary Cook, and Eddie Dailey.

WE SAY GOOD - BYE TO 1965

Tired but happy, we started our journey home.

When the clang of the last bell sounded throughout the halls, there was a mad scramble as students raced down the stairs and piled into buses and cars. Each day was brought to a noisy and cheerful end in this same routine. We looked forward to tomorrow knowing that once more our laughter would join that of our friends, and we would settle into our pattern of study. But one day the door closed and we were made to face the realization that our year was over. For the seniors, the door would never again be opened. For the underclassmen it stood as a reminder of the nine months that had just passed. For everyone it symbolized a truly memorable year. Yet there remained one indestructible force that would bind us forever---the Spirit of '65.

As we walked out the back door, the sight of the big yellow buses announced the end of day. To those of us who lived out of town, the "kids on the bus" were like a family and we came to know each of them.

Taking activity pictures was a job which required much planning. During the day students consulted members of the staff to ask about the schedule.

The trophy case, our pride and joy, displayed many cherished honors. The glass always gleamed brightly after a polishing from Porky.

Our hungry boys met at the same table every noon.
There was hardly time for talk between bites!

TODAY'S REALITIES ARE TOMORROW'S MEMORIES

Not only were tickets for the basketball games sold here, but a few yards away the juniors busily sold cokes.

Between periods we stood in line endlessly at the fountains and frequently the bell found us still without water!

During the year we happily admitted class rivalry. But we know it was all in fun and that we wouldn't have traded such moments as these for anything.

DEAR STUDENTS

Today we sit and listen to the sounds of school which are everywhere around us. Memories are still being made. Many of these seem rather unimportant such as fire drills in the rain, stolen apples from the fruit machine, or a leaking radiator. There is still a term paper deadline to meet, a sectional to attend, and a Prom to anticipate. There are five months of school yet to be lived. But as you read this letter, the days and weeks will have in some way vanished and you will be wondering how it disappeared so quickly.

As editors, we would like to thank the members of our staff who have worked so hard to create this book, and Mrs. Webster, our advisor.

As seniors, we would like to represent our class in saying thank-you to Mrs. Utter and Mr. McQueen, who have been our sponsors during the last four years. They are the ones who have been responsible for much of the happiness of our class.

We sincerely hope that you like this Jetstream and will cherish the memories it holds. In future years you may frequently look through its pages and recall the faces you knew and the friendships you enjoyed. But above all, may you relive that great feeling---the Spirit of '65.

Thanks and good-bye!

John
 I'm not a very good writer as you can tell. You know John it used to be that we hated each others quite a bit. I remember when we most got in a fight last year. But I think you we have been pretty good friends and there is I do know that I think you OK and there is not too many people that meet + some standards
 I had a blast thing of John and can't wait till next year because I'm sure that we really got to see you OK. Good Luck

John,
 end of another school year. It doesn't seem like I will be a senior in a little more than a week. These past two years here at Hansen seem to be a load of fun! In
 I will be just as far from home

John,
Best of luck to a silly sophomore. I know you all will have a blast next year. Good luck to you and your whistle also. I don't know what this school would do without your little whistles. Be good and CUMMINS is more . . .

. . . than valves and gears, pistons and rods, heads and pans, pumps and injectors.

. . . than the world's leader in diesel power research, engineering, production, sales and service.

Cummins is people—over 7,000 well educated, well trained and hard working people. Most of them are your southern Indiana neighbors.

If you are seeking a career with a growing organization, ask your neighbor about Cummins, then investigate your opportunities with us.

Well John,
looks about like this old school is about to close its doors once again. I'd sten again next year, but not to the Jun everyone's had this year. Always remember your sophomore year at "Haver"!! Be good and stay out of trouble!

Dear John,
I hate you,
no not really. you have been the sweetest and the most wonderful boy
a girl could ever know.
I have had a great year as a sophomore and you have made it the greatest. I'll never forget The wonderful times we last spent of my life. Thanks to you and your wonderful parents, I was second runner-up in the queen contest. I think we have the most wonderful alot this year and I have had my first us be together Well I guess a lot of things has happened date this year. Even with me being in the hospital, we have had enough good times to make up for that. but and I hope you have put up with me this year
I guess you will tell. Huh?
I'll have to stop writing. I love you and I'm glad you are Well it is awful hard to write in bed, so going steady with me.
Love Always & Forever
